Overrepresentation in the Justice System

- Youth of Color incarceration is double that of the general LGBTQ youth population
- Youth homelessness is a pipeline to incarceration, and vice versa
- Discrimination and stigma leads to criminalization and increased interactions with law enforcement and the juvenile justice system
Reality of Violence in the Community

- 2015 U.S. Transgender Survey
- The Status of Navajo Women and Gender Violence Report
- Erasure and Resiliency
- Indigenizing Love Toolkit
- UAKN Coming Out Stories: Two Spirit Narratives in Atlantic Canada
- Human Trafficking Leadership Academy Class 5 Recommendations Report
LGBTQ and Two Spirit youth demonstrate remarkable resiliency:

- Ability to create families of choice
- Networks for support
- Often not only surviving but thriving
How Do We help Native LGBTQ and Two Spirit Youth?

• Reality of experiencing violence - not reaching Tribal/rural communities
• Listen to young people - trust in youth resiliency, empowerment and leadership
• Acknowledge experiences and uplift voices of LGBTQ youth in foster care, (formerly) incarcerated, addiction experiences
• Create community-based alternatives to youth incarceration
How Do We Help Native LGBTQ and Two Spirit Youth?

• Youth empowerment - Create opportunities where they can share their knowledge
• Creating mentorship programs (Two Spirit Elder/Youth)
• Highlight Elders who support the Native LGBTQ community
• Role of Adults/Elders
• Responsible for teaching the language that is specific to land and cultural/spiritual aspect of identifying (roles and responsibilities) & reclaiming Two-Spirit and Native LGBTQ Youth
Addressing Biases and Assumptions

- To reduce discrimination, understand gender roles and Two-Spirit and Native LGBTQ history
- Provide accessibility for opportunities to support youth-led collective movements for social change
- Normalize discussions about consent in all aspects of our life
- Allow young people to make decisions that impact their livelihood and land
- Bring opportunities to young people to strengthen their connection to land and language through workshops and encouragement
Belonging in Community

• Belonging to the community keeps our young people grounded
• The land is at the center
• To be accepted for who we are and accepted as our full selves
• Provide the needed support when young people are seen and validated for who they are
• Improve safety of and resources available to Native LGBTQ and Two Spirit youth
What is one thing you are going to take with you back to the community?
Envisioning a future where Indigenous youth thrive through traditional lifeways.
